Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Bogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WILLIAM MASON. Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment. June 11

Wanted,

A YOUNG MAN of sober and steady habits, to superintend a fishery. None need apply but one who is well acquainted with seine hauling, and can come well recommended. Enquire of the Printer. February 24

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland: one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek; containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland; for more than twenty miles up and down the river: located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chestnut; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 11 miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland. June 25 d4w G. MASON.

Baltimore, June 26,
INTERESTING TRIAL.

At the city court of Baltimore, during its present June session, NANCY GAMBLE, an interesting looking young woman of 19 years of age, was indicted and tried for kidnapping, stealing, and conveying away an infant female child, of the name of Margaret Pool, aged 20 months, the daughter of James and Mary Pool.

On the trial, Mary Pool, the mother of the child, testified that on Thursday the 20th May last, about 8 o'clock in the morning, the little child, who had just begun to run about, was playing on the pavement in front of her door, and being engaged within the house about 15 minutes, she left the child, and on her return it had disappeared—that immediate search was made for it without success—the neighborhood was roused in quest of the child, but nothing could be certainly ascertained by her until the Sunday after, (23d) when the child was brought back most dreadfully whipped and mangled, from its little neck to its feet.

The child was produced in Court with the marks of the rod still upon it—a sweet, interesting, beautiful, sprightly child of 18 or 20 months of age.

Gen. Heath testified, that having heard of the loss of the child, he went with others in pursuit of it, that after many fruitless enquiries he at length heard it had been seen on the Annapolis road, and accordingly took that direction in search of it, along with Mr. Alexander Russell. That at Mr. Hensworth's they were told that the traverser dined there on Thursday with the child, which she represented as her own—called herself Mrs. Williams, the wife of Mr. Jacob Williams, and said she and her husband had quarrelled about leaving the child with her grandmother in Baltimore, or putting the child out to nurse, and pretended to nurse it herself, before the family—that she left there soon after dinner, and went on to Craig's Ferry, where she said the child was her sister's, and staid that night with the child. The next morning she took the stage towards Annapolis, was put down a short distance this side of Mrs. Gamble's, (her aunt) and carefully avoiding the house of her aunt, had gone round through the woods to Mr. Poulfey's, near Magothy. Here she was found by Gen. Heath, Mr. Russell, and others, at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, in bed with Miss Pomfrey, who had taken off the child's clothes to wash. The child, when found, was in the arms of the woman lying in bed with the traverser. Gen. Heath accosted Miss P. (supposing her to be the other woman) roughly, who denied the crime and charged it upon her companion in bed (the traverser), who confessed the whole truth without any threats or flattery, fear of punishment or hope of reward.

The traverser stated to the pursuers that she had taken the child from the street in front of a house in Charles street, which she described agreeably to the situation of Mrs. Pool's; that she took it up Pratt-street, to a Mrs. Hamilton's, near the Keggs Tavern, where she left it a short time in the care of a little girl, until she would fetch a bundle of clothes from near the Seminary; that on her return she took the child and brought it on the Annapolis road, in the manner above mentioned. On being closely questioned as to her motive, she said that her real object was to obtain the reward which would probably be offered for bringing the child back. General Heath said, that on examining the child, they found it most cruelly and inhumanly whipped, lacerated, and bruised, so that in many places the blood had gushed through the skin. That on inquiry how this had come, the traverser confessed she had whipped the poor little innocent because it would not walk to keep pace with her; that its little arms and body were so mangled, as literally to draw tears from several men then present, especially a Mr. Stone, who shed tears freely, and clasped it in his arms. That the traverser's character in that neighborhood was very bad indeed. She had been abandoned by her aunt as worthless, and her reputation generally very depraved.

Mr. Alexander Russell confirmed general Heath's testimony throughout. Mr. Hensworth, Mrs. Craig, and Mr. Cook, respectively as to the traverser's possession of the child at their several houses; and to Mr. Cook she confessed she had whipped it severely because it would not walk, as she was too heavily laden with clothes to carry it; and once she had whipped it because it would not keep in the right road. Dr. Handy also spoke of the wounds on the infant's body, and said they were evidently inflicted at different times.

The defence, Orsandy—Two witnesses, Mr. Farrell and Mr. Thomas both testified that they considered the traverser but little above than an idiot—with Mr. Thomas she had lived six weeks, as nurse to his child, and had been turned away by Mrs. Thomas on that account—that she would often lie without any motive, and disobey Mrs. T's orders; although Mr. T. had no doubt that she perfectly understood her own property as distinct from that of others. Mr. Farrell had only seen her at his house part of a day prior to her going into the service of Mr. Thomas, and occasionally while she lived with Mr. T. but concurred in the same opinion. There was also some evidence of a general reputation in the neighborhood where she had been bred up, to that effect.

On the contrary—General Heath and Mr. Russell testified that she was remarkably smart and subtle, sagacious and intelligent, and mentioned several proofs of it that occurred on the road back to Baltimore. Their testimony was supported by Mr. Aguiton, the Swedish Consul (who rode in the stage with the traverser from Craig's Ferry to where she left the stage) and by Mr. Cook, who had always lived in her neighborhood, had never heard such a suggestion before, but knew that her character and disposition were always so bad, that school masters had turned her away lest she should spoil the other children at school; and her aunt had driven her out of the house. Their testimony on this point was also corroborated by other witnesses.

The Counsel for the traverser prayed the court to instruct the Jury that the offence proved was not kidnapping at common law, upon which alone the indictment was founded; that kidnapping was the forcible abduction of free persons from their own into a foreign country, according to 4 Bla. Com. 219—(So decided by the court.)

On the part of the State it was answered, That kidnapping was not strictly a technical term, and not an essential word to any indictment at common law—that its proper import in common parlance was, according to its etymology, child stealing, referring to Johnson's Dictionary: that Mr. Justice Blackstone was not supported in his definition by the cases he had cited, nor by any other case or precedent, or elementary writer—that East had given a broader and more correct definition and description of this offence so as to embrace this case, and at all events rejecting the word kidnap as tautologous; there was sufficient matter still left in the indictment to constitute one of the highest misdemeanours at common law. This direction having been given, the evidence was then submitted to the Jury, (the Counsel for the traverser, admitting that if they should believe her sane, there could be no doubt of her guilt) and the Jury accordingly, without leaving their box, found her guilty.

Counsel for the state, Eichelberger and Mitchell.

Counsel for the traverser, Hall and Kennedy.

There were also other indictments against the traverser, one for the inhuman battery of the child, and the other for stealing its clothes; on the first of which she was found guilty, and from the other acquitted. It did not appear that she had stolen the child for the sake of its clothes, or that she had deprived it of its clothes without intending to return them.

Maria Thomas, who had been aiding Nancy Gamble, was also found guilty on an indictment for kidnapping.

Yesterday the court passed sentence on each of the women, that she should, on the first Wednesday (the 7th) of July, and the succeeding Wednesday (the 14th) stand one hour each day in the pillory, to be erected in the jail yard—he imprisoned 12 months, and until security be given for her good behaviour, in 500 dollars.

In the brig Francis, arrived at Portsmouth, (N. H.) came passenger, Major S. Lorick, Consul General from His Majesty the King of Sweden and Norway, to the United States.

From the Hartford Courant.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.
A melancholy accident happened at East Windsor, on the evening of the 7th inst. Sanford Kinsbury, jr. and Joseph Blodgett agreed that if they could borrow each a gun, to repair to the fields early the next morning, and kill some birds that were destroying their corn. The muskets being soon procured, they met each other in the street, when Kinsbury, in a playful manner, "we have both of us a gun in our hands, let us fight a duel!" Blodgett consented, the pieces were cocked and presented at each other's head, and both snapped at the same instant. The gun which B. had procured appears to have been loaded that day by one of the neighbors, at the request of the owner's boy, to kill a bird; but not finding any game, the boy placed the gun in the same spot, where his father had left it. Its contents were lodged in Kinsbury's head, and he expired in about forty minutes.

Baltimore, June 22.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

On Friday last, Mr. Joseph Bixler, of Clarence, aged 19 years, while walking with a carpenter's adze in his hand, accidentally fell, and cut his thigh so severely that he lived but a few hours.

Richmond, June 23.

MOST HORRIBLE MURDER!

On the morning of Sunday last, about day break, a most glaring and shocking murder was committed in the neighborhood of Chesterfield court house, (as is supposed) by James Vest, upon the body of his wife Sally Vest. Agreeably to report of the inquest this day held on her body, she was deliberately led from home by her husband, (the said James Vest) about 3 miles into a piney field, and there deliberately, maliciously, and of malice aforethought, shot by him, with a large pistol or gun, the tract of which ball after passing through her body, was seen in the bark of a large pine.

N. B. The said James Vest is about 40 years of age, 5 feet 4 or 5 inches high, with a small nose a little turned up at the end, and is disposed to smile when spoken to—and it is supposed he will make towards North-Carolina.

Edenton, June 8.

SUICIDE.

It is seldom we have to record a more premeditated murder than that which it is our painful task this day to lay before our readers in the death of Mr. Wm. Roalbac, a native of Martin County. Mr. Roalbac on the morning of Thursday last, rode out of the town of Plymouth, where he had been for two or three days on a visit, and returning soon after, turned his horse loose in the street, and then walked, as it is supposed, a small distance out of town, where he committed the horrid act of putting a period to his existence by stabbing and shooting himself in the most barbarous and shocking manner. Being missed, and fearing some accident had befallen him, diligent search was made without success. On the Tuesday morning following however, he was found by means of a number of buzzards flying over the spot where the unfortunate victim lay. He was shot thro' the heart, his right jaw bone shot nearly off, several stabs in his left side, and his throat cut entirely across.

From the Albany Daily Advertiser, June 23.

The following was received from a respectable correspondent at Rensselaerville.

On Friday last, a little before sunset the village of Rensselaerville and its vicinity, were visited by remarkable hail, many of which were as large as hen's eggs, and weighed about two ounces each. Some were nearly of a globular form, but most of them nearly in the shape of a watch, exhibiting in the centre a white nucleus or core, and on their surface the accessions of large rain-drops congealed—Several measured 6 1/2 inches in circumference. The storm was attended with so little wind, that the damage to windows was trifling; nor was the quantity of hail so great as to do material injury to vegetation. The hail had a slight sulphurous taste. Before the hail commenced the clouds ran low and appeared to be agitated by conflicting currents of air; large and unfrequent drops of rain fell attended with dim yellow light.

From the Catskill Recorder, of Wednesday.

THUNDER STORM.

Last Friday evening a most violent storm of wind and hail, accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over this place. The flashes of the fluid, and the noise of the thunder were incessant and tremendous. In the midst of the storm, a barn belonging to Mr. R. Livingston on the east side of the river, nearly opposite this town, was struck with lightning, and consumed. Mrs. Folger, of Hudson, was also struck so severely that her life was despaired of for a time.

THUNDER STORM.

A very severe storm passed over this place on Friday last. The weather had that day and the day before been excessively warm, the mercury standing above 90 in the shade. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, a violent wind arose, and continued for many minutes to raise such clouds of dust that it was scarcely possible to see across the street. When the wind had somewhat abated, the rain began to fall in torrents, accompanied by tremendous volleys of lightning and thunder. A two story house built of wood, on the corner of South-street and Second-street, occupied by Mrs. Burrow, was struck by a flash of lightning, and very materially injured, in almost every part. The principal vein of the electric fluid descended from one of the chimneys to the eaves of the house, tearing off every shingle in its course; and thence went down between the wainscoting and the clapboards, bursting out two of the window frames in the second story, and one of the panels in the first. The persons in the house received no material injury. We have not heard of any other damage done by the storm, except the scathing of a poplar tree on the corner opposite to this house, and the burning of a barn in the town of Livingston.

The patent Republicans of Kentucky are quite in a rage with their "brethren of the same principle" in Georgia, on account of the attentions paid to Mr. Monroe, on his late visit, which they denominate "efforts to disgrace themselves, and to prove that if they are still free-men, it is because fortune has not favoured them with an opportunity to become slaves." Yea, they affirm, that "A people who can thus beat the aristocrats and mobs of Europe, in the external of political slavery, are unquestionably ripe for a yoke, for the reality of that which they are so proud to effect."—How very lucid as well as spunky!

STEAM BOAT.

On Saturday evening last, the Walk-in-the-water, started for Mackinaw, with a cargo of merchandise valued at 200,000 dols. and with upwards of 70 passengers, among whom were Gen. Brown and suite, Col. Jones and lady, Col. Smith and Family, Com. Deacon and Family, and a number of ladies and gentlemen from various parts of the Union.

From the N. Y. Daily Advertiser

One would be led to conclude from the universal anxiety and complaint that exists not only in our country but in Europe, respecting the scarcity of money, the embarrassments of trade, and mercantile distress, that such a state of things never before occurred, and that the present times are distinguished, with regard to those particulars, from all that have preceded. It is certain there is trouble enough in pecuniary affairs—banks stop payments, merchants become embarrassed, insolvencies take place, confidence for the time is shaken, the monied institutions withhold their aid, and confusion and alarm succeed.—But this is not new under the sun. The same things have happened before; and in all human probability will happen again. So long as men will run risks, and banks look out sharp for themselves, and sharpers watch for their prey, so long business will be embarrassed, and men driven to their wit's ends for expedients to save themselves, and their credit from destruction.

We have before us a little book, written we know not how long since, but the copy in our possession is "the fourth edition," and that was printed nearly a century ago, entitled "Pleasant art of Money catching"—treating

1. Of the origin and invention of money.
2. Of the misery of wanting it.
3. How persons in straits for money may supply themselves.
4. A new method for ordering expenses.
5. How to save money in diet, apparel, and recreation.
6. How a man may always keep money in his pocket.
7. How a man may pay debts without money.
8. How to travel without money.

The following is the preface, which will show that the contents may not be altogether inapplicable to the present time:

"THE PREFACE."

"How! The pleasant art of money catching, say you? Yes, indeed; the very same I'll assure ye: And if any judgement can be made from the common discourse, there was never more need of it than now; and therefore now I think I have kick't the humour of the age, by adapting this treatise to every man's use: For who would not willingly part with a shilling to gain a pound, nay, as it may fall out, a thousand pounds? And, if so, what can more commend itself than the pleasant art of Money catching? For who is there who would not be willing to learn it? Especially when it is so hard to get it—and in which the generality of men know the worth of it mostly by the want of it; and are ever ready to send out an Hue-an cry after it—There's no money to be had, cries one: I never knew trading so dead, cries another: I hardly take what keeps my house, cries a third. Thus all complain for want of money: and what can be a greater argument of its worth than when every one courts it, and languishes because of its absence.

"Thus persons of all qualities and all professions make their court to money: the gaining of which, as if it were the great Diana of the world, is the chief mark they aim at, in all their undertakings—and therefore to inform 'em how they may catch this coy mistress, and embrace her in their own arms, must needs be a very pleasant art. And so much, I doubt not, every one will be ready to grant me. But then their next question will be, how must this be done?—Not so fast gentlemen; 'tis a matter of great moment, and must not be slightly buddled over—and therefore I hope you don't expect I should tell you in the preface; for I am sure I don't intend it; for then the reading of the book would be needless. But this I'll assure you, that whatever I promise in the title, I'll make good in the book. With several other useful and necessary instructions; which, if tradesmen and others would diligently peruse and put into practice, they would get more than they do, and not be in danger of losing so much: for here they may see so many several ways of turning a penny, that if they don't thrive, 'twill be their own faults: And whether they be like to thrive or not, they may also know if they will but give themselves the trouble of comparing their own management with the rules contained in the following treatise, which, if they had been sooner known, or at least better followed, might have prevented many of these statutes of bankruptcy which have every week taken up so much room in our Gazettes. And if such a subject don't please, I'll 'em fling my pen away."

From the Montreal Herald.

OF THE ANCIENT STATE OF LETTERS IN ENGLAND.

Time was in England when the knowledge of letters was so low, that whoever could prove himself, in a court of justice, able to read a verse in the New Testament was vested with the highest privileges, and a Clergyman who knew any thing of grammar was looked upon as a prodigy. In those enlightened days, we are told, a Rector of a Parish going to law with his Parishioners, about paving the Church, quoted this authority from St. Peter, "paveant illi, non paveam ego," which he interpreted, they are to pave the Church, not I; and this was allowed to be law by a good judge who was an Ecclesiastic too. Alfred the great complained towards the end of the ninth century, that from the Humber to the Thames, there was not a priest who understood the Liturgy in his mother tongue; or could translate the easiest piece of Latin. A correspondent of Abelard about the middle of the 12th century, complimenting him on the resort of pupils from all Countries, says, that even Britain, distant as she was sent her savages to be instructed by him, "remota Britannia sua animalia eundiendi destinabat." If the Clergy then held (as is said to be the case,) all the learning among themselves, what a blessed state the laity have been in? and so indeed it appears for there is extant an old act of Parliament, which provides that "A nobleman shall be entitled to the benefit of his Clergy even although he cannot read."

Another law cited by Judge Rolls in his abridgment sets forth that "the command of the Sheriff to his officer by word of mouth, and without writing is good, for it may happen that neither the Sheriff nor his officers can write or read." Many charters are yet extant where persons of great eminence and even Kings have affixed the sign of the Cross, because unable to read or write "Signum Crucis manu propria pro ignorantia litterarum." Hence the term of signing, instead of subscribing. These and many other remarks of a similar description might be adduced to prove the low ebb of British literature in former times; but now that the interests of mankind and the means of promoting their happiness are better understood; we find times are changed, and in no instance is that change for the better more happily felt than in the fostering care which our government extends to the promotion of letters and the diffusion of knowledge.

House and Lot for Sale.

I wish to sell, on accommodating terms, the two story brick store and dwelling house at the upper end of King-st. where I at present reside. This house is new and built of the best materials, and is in the most healthy part of the town, with several pumps of good water very convenient. The first story of this house is a large spacious store in front, with a back building attached to the kitchen, connected by a pantry with the rooms above, which are convenient and comfortable for the accommodation of a family.—The situation of the above property for the floor and grocery business is not surpassed by any other on the street, being near to several wagon yards.
This property I will sell for Franklin bank paper; a part of which will be required in hand, and the balance on very easy terms to the purchaser.

Land for Sale.

I WILL sell a great bargain in a small tract of land, containing about 160 acres, more or less, lying on the Potomac river and Monroe's creek, between the two, on the north side said creek, and forming the mouth, whereon William Williams has for many years resided. This situation would be particularly convenient for any person who follows the water, the Creek forming an excellent harbor, and the neighborhood being wealthy, constant freights might be got. The land is susceptible of great improvement, and is the very best wheat land in all the neighborhood. As it is presumed any person wishing to purchase will first view the premises, a further description is thought unnecessary. For terms apply to the subscriber, near Mattox Bridge, Westmoreland county, Virginia.

Public Sale.

UNDER the authority of a deed of trust from Thomas Shields & Wife, for the indemnification of Isaac Entwistle, the subscriber, by order of the trustee, will offer for sale at public auction, on the premises, on WEDNESDAY the 30th instant, at 3 P. M. a tenement and lot of ground, lately occupied by the said Thomas Shields as a tavern, on the alley leading from Royal-street Westwardly along the north end of the Theatre, in front on said alley 31 feet, and extending thence southwardly, parallel to Royal-street, 34 feet, subject to a rent of 26 37-100 dollars per annum, for ever.
Also,
The unexpired residue of a term of ten years, from the 14th November, 1815, in the tenement and lot adjoining, situated on Royal and Cameron streets, subject to an annual rent of 133 33-100 dollars. A small portion of the purchase money will be required in cash—on the residue a liberal credit will be allowed.

June 12

Public Sale.

On the 9th DAY of JULY next, at 12 o'clock of that day, by virtue of a deed of trust, we will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, on the premises, the very valuable tract of land in Fairfax county, near Holmes's Run, and about four miles from Alexandria, generally known by the name of containing about 115 acres. This land is about one half in wood—the balance cleared, and in cultivation, with convenient buildings on it, and excellent water near them. A considerable proportion of the open land is fertile, and well calculated for timothy meadows.

The sum of $2,254 77 cts will be required to be paid in cash; for the residue a credit of twelve months will be given from the day of sale, the purchaser paying interest thereon, and giving satisfactory security for the punctual payment thereof. A conveyance will be made when the purchase money and interest is all paid up. If the terms of the sale should not be complied with by the purchaser, the premises will be immediately re-sold to the highest bidder, at the risk of the person to whom it shall have been struck off; and the same course will be repeated until an effectual sale shall have taken place.

Gunston for Sale.
THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaster acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain; being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary out-house, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abounded with wild fowl, particularly canvas backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.
September 4 GEORGE MASON.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,
Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling
RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case; and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or dissatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.
N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.
S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

100 Dollars Reward.
IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.
He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.
Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.
The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS.
At his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on.

Notice.

To Wheelwrights, Blacksmiths, Tanners, Harness-Makers, Saddlers, Hatters, &c.
BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

Editors, Rev. WM. HAWLEY, Washington, Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria, Rev. OLIVER NOBBS, Alexandria, Rev. RAUEL KERTY, Georgetown. Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

If any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprise and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprise of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publication will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to lose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successfully pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.
A volume of the Repository shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid. Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26

Flour Business.

THE subscribers respectfully inform their friends and the public, that they have entered into copartnership, and their business will be transacted under the firm of ASHBY & STRIBLING.
Their ware-house is near the upper end of King-street, and opposite the diagonal pump; where they will purchase and receive flour on storage.

They intend keeping GROCERIES, which they will sell at a small profit for cash.
TURNER ASHBY,
MAGNUS T. STRIBLING.
